

Privacy Policy

Legal entity

This website is owned and operated by Cambridge Digital Ltd. We respect your privacy and comply with all data protection and privacy laws in any dealings with you, including the latest requirements of GDPR.

In respect of use of this website, we do not ask you for any personally identifiable information in order to access the site.

Please note that we use cookies in order to speed access to the site and to track anonymised usage statistics, but not for any other purpose. We do not collect or utilise any personal information for any purpose on this website unless you actually email us from it.

Personal Information Collection

In the event that you make enquiries of us or submit information to us, we will only use that information for the purpose for which it was submitted. We do not sell or supply any personal data to other organisations or entities for any reason except as part of a contractual arrangement with all parties as defined in an explicit and clear commercial agreement.

Personal Information Retention

We will retain records of conversations and submissions as part of our email archiving processes, but will not make them available to external parties without permission from the data owner except as required by law enforcement agencies through due process.
